

Build a career with academy

LEADING SCOTTISH entrepreneur Sir Tom Farmer will launch a new technical academy in Stirling tomorrow.

The Kwik-Fit founder will launch Technical Academy Scotland at Stirling University.

Technical Academy Scotland is a new, specialist provider of technical and engineering courses designed for those working in civil engineering and construction. It will offer courses through online learning and teaching in the workplace for qualifications across a wide range of construction disciplines.